Supporting Programs and Networks

The project "Africa 4.0 will be financially self-sustaining in the long term. However, in the start-up phase, Africa4.0 is grateful for any support and is interested in building a good network.

Application for funding under the BMWi's Innovation Program for Business Models and Pioneering Solutions (IGP)

In order to push the project, especially the further development of the project software with artificial intelligence, as fast as possible, Africa 4.0 has applied for funding in the IGP of the Federal Ministry of Economics and Energy (BMWi). The final part of the application procedure is a 30-minute online pitch. Africa 4.0 is invited to participate at the beginning of July.

Business Network Africa (BMWi)

The application for funding under IGP includes the intended cooperation with the Business Network Africa. Contact with this BMWi program was established in February 2020 and has since been intensified. "With the new Africa Business Network, the BMWi is offering a bundled range of consulting and support services, especially for German medium-sized companies that want to become economically active in Africa. The economic network consists of the established players and programs of German

AI detects pneumonia in 10 seconds

Researchers at Stanford University have developed an automated chest X-ray interpretation model called CheXpert that uses artificial intelligence to precisely analyse X-ray images of patients believed to have pneumonia within just 10 seconds. The model used 188,000 chest imaging studies to be able to determine what is and is not pneumonia on an X-ray. In emergencies, this reduces the time to analyse X-ray images.

Network for education and training in Ghana

Education and training play an important role in the development of locally adapted business models. For this reason, Africa 4.0 is setting up a "Working Group on Training and Further Education in Ghana". The constituent meeting on 12.02.2020 was followed by an online-meeting on 12.05.2020. Here the focus was on whether the working group, consisting of companies, educational institutions and representatives of civil society, should apply for funding in the program: "Development and Implementation of Training Clusters International - ClusterVET".
